

The American Center presents:

Teaching English and the U.S. Peace Corps

Time: Friday, January 13, 2012, 2:00 p.m.

Speaker: Mr. Ray Nayler, Consulate Officer

Consulate Officer Ray Nayler will share his teaching experiences and lessons learned as a Peace Corps volunteer, and detail his plans for two new English-language clubs at the American Center. Mr. Nayler taught English and American Literature in Ashgabat, Turkmenistan, for two years as part of the U.S. Government's volunteer program the Peace Corps. He will utilize his experience as an English instructor and his enthusiasm for teaching to start a poetry club and English club at the American Center starting in February.

Come to the American Center to learn more about Mr. Nayler's Peace Corps experience and the two new English language classes that will start next month.
